A cold home can make you ill

Keep yourself well and your home warm this winter, with help from the Winter Warmth service.

In Britain cold spells, even during mild winters are often followed by sudden increases in respiratory illnesses, heart attacks and strokes. It is vital that our homes are kept warm enough. Children living in cold homes are also at greater risk of flu and respiratory illnesses and can be more prone to mental health issues.

Don't put your family's health at risk this winter, keep your home warm and snug with our help.

We can also help connect you to other organisations and helpful local services, which can provide extra support that you could find helpful.
